papers and everything was done without avail to discover his whereabouts.

LONDON, Dec. 21.-The building occupied by Hovey & Sons, drapers, at Sheffield, caught fire this morning. Sixty assistants of the firm were rescued with difficulty. Five fire escapes were used to take them from the burning building. The efforts of the firemen to confine the fire in the building in which it originated were fruitless and the flames spread until five other buildings were burning. The damage already amounts to £200,000.

NEW JUDGES IN VIRGINIA. Five Members of the Supreme Court But Did Not Disclose His Opinion of of Appeals to Be Chosen.

tal Dispatch to The Evening Star. RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 21.-The five judges of the supreme court of appeals chosen by the legislature immediately after the Christmas holidays. Intense interest is court judges, whose terms of office are for twelve years.

The present members of the suprem court bench are republicans, at least they Mahone United States Senators. Of course none of these are candidates for re-election, although some of them, it is said, have voted the democratic ticket for the past two years at both national and state elec-

The candidates for this bench are very numerous, at least twenty-five lawyers aspiring to the honors. The Star correspondent after diligent inquiry, learns that there are three candiupon for three of the five seats. These are Speaker R. H. Cardwell of the house of representatives, Circuit Judge James Keith of Fauquier, and Maj. John W. Riely of Halifax county. Mr. Cardwell, who is certain to fill one of the seats, has been speaker of the house for the past decade, and has frequently been mentioned for a seat in Congress, an inquiry of that character.

but would never oppose Capt. Geo. D. Wise for the democratic nomination. He is one simply those of a republic which has recogfor the democratic nomination. He is one of the leaders of the "machine politicians," and while he is not regarded as an able lawyer, he is very popular with the members of the legislature, and the indications now are that he will receive almost the unanimous vote of the caucus.

Maj. Riely is backed by the southside, which element placed Gov. McKinney in the executive chair, and is a lawyer of great ability. He is now commonwealth's attorney of Halifax, and was one of the men to revise the last code. Maj. Riely is one of the men agreed upon by the democrats twelve years ago for a seat on the supreme bench, when the readjusters captured the "slated" men, is well known to Washing-tonians. His name was seriously considered by President Cleveland as the late Judge Bond's successor, and he has been promi-nently spoken of in connection with several high judicial offices. He presides over the eleventh judicial circuit, is an eminent jurist, and a man of spotless char-

the distribution of judicial honors, the southwest will be entitled to one of these seats. There are, however, so many candidates from this section that it is impos-sible to forecast the action of the democratic caucus in this particular. Ex-Con-gressman John A. TO SUCCEED SENATOR MARTIN.

Wires Already Being Laid by the Kansas Politicians. special Dispatch to The Evening Star.

TOPEKA, Kan., Dec. 21.-The victory achieved by the republicans of Kansas in to enter the campaign for next year with renewed hope, and the battle that will be waged for the election of members of the lower house of the legislature by both re-publicans and populists will attract national attention. Already the wires are being laid no commendation after winning the chamattention. Already the wires are being laid and pins set for this contest. A United States Senator is to be elected and it all depends upon the election of the lower nouse of the legislature.

Instructions to the Kansas leaders have calling their attention to the importance of a thorough organization of the party this winter, urging the league club pian as the best means of getting the republicans to-gether. The Kansas leaders are told that this state is expected to return a republican to the United States Senate to succeed Se

With the republicans and populists nearly evenly divided this may not be an easy thing to do. The state senate consists of forty members and holds over. The house is composed of 125 members to be elected next November. It requires eighty-three forty hold-over senators twenty-three are populists, two democrats and fifteen republicans. To win the republicans must Watt, 36; Kelly, 32; Corp. Davis, 25. Toelect sixty-eight members of the house. This, it is conceded, will tax their best energies. It they should fail of a majority on joint ballot, and the democrats should have, as they did last year before several popu-lists were unseated, the balance of power, it would add additional interest to the sit The republicans take it for granted that they will elect the Senator and this feeling of assurance has started several robust senatorial booms. Whenever this question is sprung in Kansas the natural inquiry comes, "Will Ingalis be a candidate?" Ai-though retired to private life, his name is by the Ingalis yard-stick. If they do not possess the burning eloquence and cutting sarcasm which characterized Ingalis' career of eighteen years in the Senate they are at worshipers of the rebel skinner. But In-training in the republican camp and they are losing no time in letting their desires be known. One of them, ex-United States District Attorney J. W. Ady, has been in the field since he failed to defeat Martin last winter. He is persistent and determined and will be a strong candidate. J. R. Immediately after the conclusion of Senator Hoar's speech yesterday Senator Morgan, chairman of the committee on foreign and the eighteen circuit judges will be relations, made his first utterance in the Senate on the subject of the President's action. As it is generally felt that Senator manifested in the election of the supreme | Morgan, holding as he does the balance of power in the foreign affairs committee, is likely to antagonize the President, every word that fell from his lips yesterday was listened to with the greatest eagerness. were elected by the legislature which was He made, however, a very diplomatic controlled by the Mahone-readjuster ele-speech. He introduced a resolution authorment, and which elected Riddleberger and izing the committee on foreign relations to investigate the question of whether there have been any irregularities in the diplomatic relations between this country and Hawaii, especially with reference to the political revolution of a year ago.

The Senator spoke as follows: "I merely desire to say that the committee on foreign relations have expressed, informally of course, a desire to do their whole duty in HORSES AND VEHICLES..... respect of this question, and to do it im- HOTELS. partially. I speak now of the re-lations between the two governments. "The other questions which lie behind that relate to the conduct of the two Presidents who have occupied the chief execu-tive office in the United States in reaching the result which is now an accomplish-ed fact, which stands before the world, to legislature.

Judge Keith, the other of the three states and the government of Hawaii. That in itself is a domestic question. It is one in itself is a domestic question. It is one that now concerns us and nobody else. It is one that touches simply the matter of the regularity and propriety of the action which has occurred on the part of either or both of the Presidents of the United States in their dealing with this subject.

"My purpose in bringing the matter before the Senate and getting this authority for the committee to act is to enable that acter.

According to the established custom of for the committee to act, is to enable that the distribution of judicial honors, the committee, if it can do so, to satisfy the American mind in respect of the conduct of all its executive officers and their agents. That is the whole scope and purpose of the resolution, and I think it meets the approbation of the committee. back. The primary object of his pilgrimage to this city was to renew his acquaintance with his brother, who is a member of the Department of the Interior. The officer was brimful of Asiatic experience, and between some bite in it. Our anxiety was appeased. We got what we wanted. Taking a lease on a gang of native hunters who knew the ropes, we sallied forth toward that part of the land where the danger was said to lie. On the second day out the Coreans espied a track. They applied their noses to the scent, smiled affirmatively, announced 'panther' and began to press forward with caution born of experience. The guides declared that from the freshness of the ear marks the enemy was not a long time off. took a firmer grip on our guns, opened the breech to see that the shells were ready for least, would seem to be the case from the array of "talent" that will line up at National League Park, 7th and Boundary, on Monday at 2 o'clock. The All-Washington instant duty and allowed our thumbs to tox is certainly a formidable-looking team, and in its players the champion C. A. C.'s are certain to find worthy foemen. One dropped as he reached our line, but the other sprang on one of the Coreans and sent him to glory quicker than blowed out gas. But the panthers' career was spent. They died. A few gruff sighs is all they said. These are their skins." The paymaster pointed to two splendid furs on the parlor floor, reached down and stroked them in a reminiscent way, while the spectators specated on in awe.
